

TUDOR PLACE | is open Tuesday through Sunday. Currently on view, Tangled

Roots: Families of Tudor Place. Click for info

DETAILS

Date:

May 13

Time:

6:30 pm - 8:00 pm

Event Categories:

Adult Programs,
Calendar, Free,
Landmark Lecture,
Members

VENUE

Dower House

1670 31st Street NW
Washington, DC
20007 United States

Phone

202-965-0400

[View Venue
Website](#)

Landmark Lecture: Resting in Resistance: The Black Cemeteries of Georgetown

MAY 13 @ 6:30 PM - 8:00 PM

The Mount Zion and Female Union Band Society Cemeteries stand as two of Washington, DC's oldest African American burial grounds, yet their histories remain largely overlooked. These sacred spaces bear witness to the lives of Black Georgetown's residents—enslaved and free—who shaped the city's history but were often excluded from its recorded narratives.

In this Landmark Lecture, Lisa Fager, Executive Director of the

TUDOR PLACE | is open Tuesday through Sunday. Currently on view, Tangled

Roots: Families of Tudor Place. Click for info

remembrance, resistance and resilience. Through historical accounts, archaeological findings and ongoing preservation efforts, she will highlight their significance in Georgetown's Black community, the Underground Railroad and the broader struggle for African American dignity in life and death.

Additionally, Lisa will provide an up-to-date overview of the ongoing preservation efforts, including new discoveries through archaeology, recent partnerships, community engagement initiatives and the DC African American Burial Grounds Act of 2025, which seeks to secure funding and legal protections for these historic sites.

This discussion will illuminate the ongoing fight to reclaim, protect and preserve Black Georgetown's hidden history—a story that continues to unfold today.

Lisa Fager is the Executive Director of the Black Georgetown Foundation, a nonprofit organization dedicated to

TUDOR PLACE | is open Tuesday through Sunday. Currently on view, Tangled

Roots: Families of Tudor Place. Click for info

and Female Union Band Society Cemeteries in Georgetown. Active from 1808 to 1950, these cemeteries are among the oldest historically African American burial grounds in Washington, DC. Lisa leads efforts to protect, restore and interpret these sacred spaces, ensuring that the wealth of stories, historical artifacts and legacies of Black Georgetown are properly recognized and honored.

Under her leadership, the Foundation has gained national recognition. Lisa's work is featured in The Washington Post, The New York Times, Discovery Science Channel, PBS NewsHour and numerous other publications and media outlets. She is also a published scholar, co-authoring
"Nannie's Stone: Commemoration and Resistance" with Mark Auslander in Southern Spaces (July 2023).

Lisa's commitment to historic preservation, public memory and community engagement continues

TUDOR PLACE | is open Tuesday through Sunday. Currently on view, Tangled

Roots: Families of Tudor Place. Click for info

history remains a vital part of the national narrative.

Members. FREE | Non-Members. FREE

Note: This program will be held LIVE at Tudor Place and virtually.

In-Person Registration Link: Click here.

Virtual Registration Link: Click here. You will be sent instructions on how to access the virtual event one day before the event.

Bookworms Reading Group

March 29, 2025

REGISTER >

TUDOR PLACE | is open Tuesday through Sunday. Currently on view, Tangled

Roots: Families of Tudor Place. Click for info

— SLAVERY AT TUDOR PLACE —

As an historic site that bears the scars of slavery, Tudor Place seeks to look this injustice in the eye. Click here to learn more.

ABOUT VISIT

- Mission • Plan
- Staff Your
- & Visit
- Leadership • Parking
- Jobs, &
- Internship • Directions
- & • FAQ
- Volunteering
- For Accessibility
- Neighbors • Photography
- Annual & Archive
- Reports • Learn
- Filming

MUSEUM & COLLECTION

- History
- Explore
- What's Blooming
- History
- Collection
- Slavery at Tudor Place
- Domestic Servants
- Archive
- Learn

GARDEN CALENDAR EDUCATION

- Field & GIVE
- Scouts • Donate
- Teacher • Membersh
- Resources • Garden
- Party

TUDOR PLACE | is open Tuesday through Sunday. Currently on view, Tangled

Roots: Families of Tudor Place. Click for info

TUDOR PLACE

for info.

TUDOR PLACE

1644 31st Street, NW | Washington, DC 20007

AMERICA'S STORY LIVES HERE
202-965-0400 | info@tudorplace.org

ABOUT VISIT

- Mission • Plan
- Staff • Your
- & Visit
- Leadership • Parking
- Jobs, &
- Internship • Directions
- & • FAQ
- Volunteering
- For • Accessibility
- Neighbors • Photography
- Annual & • Archive
- Reports • Filming
- Preservation • Shop

MUSEUM & COLLECTION

- History
- Explore
- History
- What's
- Collection • Blooming
- Slavery
- at
- Tudor
- Place
- Domestic
- Servants
- Archive
- Learn

GARDEN

CALENDAR

- Field
- Scouts
- Teacher • Donate
- Resources • Membersh
- Garden
- Party

EDUCATION

& GIVE

TUDOR PLACE | is open Tuesday through Sunday. Currently on view, Tangled

Roots: Families of Tudor Place. Click for info

Advance registration encouraged; suggested donation. Click for info.

1644 31st Street, NW | Washington, DC 20007

202-965-0400 | info@tudorplace.org