

Mount Zion Cemetery

Georgetown, Washington, DC, USA, North America

Save

The crumbling graveyard dates from the early 1800s. It takes its name from Mt Zion United Methodist Church, which used to be located beside the site. Toppled, overgrown headstones scatter in a forlorn patch of trees, marking the graves of some 500 to 1500 African American residents. During the mid-1800s, slaves escaping from the South hid in a vault on the grounds.

Mt Zion is actually composed of two cemeteries – the old Methodist Burying Grounds and the Female Union Band Society Graveyard – though no fence marks the separation.

To reach the cemetery, look for the 'No Outlet' road (Mill Rd) leading in just west of the building at 2531 Q St NW (and just east of Dumbarton House's gate).

Read more

CONTACT

 near intersection 27th & Q Sts NW

 202-234-0148

 <https://www.nps.org/>

Suggest an edit to this attraction

Lonely Planet's must-see attractions

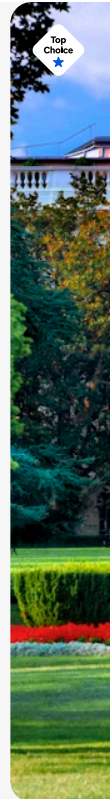

US Capitol

 2.86 MILES

Since 1800, this is where the legislative branch of American government (ie Congress) has met to write the country's laws.

View more attractions

White House

 1.34 MILES

Play image mind is the

Nearby attractions

1. Female Union Band Society Cemetery

 0.01 MILES

This cemetery was founded in 1842 by a society of free black women who pledged to help one another in sickness and in death. The graveyard originally was...

2. Dumbarton House

 0.07 MILES

Often confused with Dumbarton Oaks (the mansion and gardens), Dumbarton House is a modest Federal-style historic home, constructed by a wealthy family in...

3. Croatian Embassy

 0.2 MILES

An impressive sculpture fronts the building: a life-size, cross-legged St Jerome dreaming over his book, by renowned Croatian sculptor Ivan Meštrović.

4. Turkish Ambassador's Residence

 0.2 MILES

Edward Everett, inventor of the grooved bottle cap, commissioned the imposing 1914 manor that is now the Turkish Ambassador's Residence. George Oakley...

View more

lonely planet

For Explorers Everywhere

FOLLOW US

SUBSCRIBE

Get 20% off your first order.

Email address

Subscribe now

Subscribe to Lonely Planet newsletters and promotions. Read our Privacy Policy.

TOP DESTINATIONS

TRAVEL INTERESTS

SHOP

ABOUT US

LANGUAGE

English

